Not illustrated. 1898 Excerpt: ...there were five peas growing in a pod. The peas were green. The vine was green. The leaves were green. So the five peas thought that all the world was green. The warm sun shone on the vine. The summer rain watered it. Both the pod and the peas grew bigger and bigger. "Are we to lie here forever?" said one. "I am tired of it," said another. "I am afraid that we shall become hard," said the third. "I want to see what there is outside," said a fourth. The fifth cried because he could not get out. At last the vine turned yellow. The pod turned yellow. The peas turned yellow. FIVE PEAS IN A POD 125 "All the world is turning yell the peas with one voice. Then there came an earthqiii The pod burst open with a crack. All five peas rolled into the yellow sunshine. caught pea-shooter famously sprouted A hoy caught all the five peas. He put the biggest one in his pea-shooter. Then he shot it out. "Catch me if you can," said the big pea. "I shall fly straight into the sun," said the next one. "I shall travel farthest," said the third pea. "Let me alone," said the fourth. "What is to be, will be," said the fifth pea. He landed in an empty flower-pot. This flower-pot was in the window of a sick girl's room. The pea sprouted. It grew into a beautiful vine. FIVE PEAS IN A POD 121 "Dear mother, I think that I shall get well," sajd the little girl one day. "For my pea is growing famously." "I hope so," said the mother. She put a stick into the pot. This was so that the vine might cling to it. After many days there was a beautiful pea blossom. It smiled in the sunshine. The little girl kissed it softly, and said:--"Now I am sure that I am going to ...
