This booklet with another nine can be obtained with the March 16, 2015 edition of "The Improved Martingale Betting System" for the same price.

Wednesday, March 28, 2015.

This is my 15th booklet published on Amazon.com. The previous fourteen, printed in a number of languages, were about an improvement that I applied to the two-century-old Martingale Betting System.

A few years ago, I happened onto the Vegas Click web site that was offering a "$30,000 Betting System Challenge". Having previously designed a game of roulette utilizing a deck of playing cards in the early 70's, this challenge gave me a renewed interest in this game of chance.

Concentrating only on one-unit bets to develop a progressive betting system to meet this challenge, I found it to be unbeatable! This was due to the high minimum bet rule for the inside numbers. It became obvious that not even an expert in gambling odds could have successfully won this challenge, as any number of them would have walked off with the prize some time ago!

However, by lowering the minimum bet requirement of 5-units to .01-units, I was able to "win" this challenge. An insert titled "How to Win the $30,000 Betting System Challenge" is included my booklet, "The Improved Martingale Betting System".

Once satisfied with the results of the computer program design that took on this challenge, I began to focus on a practical betting strategy that put the odds of winning always in the player's favor with every spin of the wheel!

Most players of roulette have undoubtedly noticed how the physical and online casinos vary in their minimum and maximum bet limitations. Therefore, when using the following or any other betting strategy or betting system, we strongly suggest selecting one type of machine, table or web site on which to play and become familiar with the requirements and procedures of each. Once learned, they will no longer be an unnecessary distraction!

We would also like to suggest that prior to placing any actual money bets, take the time to practice on the free online casino web sites. My preference is practicing on the Casino Caliente.mx web site. Caliente offers European Roulette with a low minimum of .50-units on the inside bets. Caliente also owns walk in casinos in Guadalajara, Mexico where I reside.

One of the advantages of frequenting the casinos in Mexico is that most, if not all, of their machines come from the U.S.A. Although programmed for U.S.A. currency, each Mexican Peso consists of 100 centavos as a U.S. Dollar consists of 100 cents. Consequently, we can place a one Mexican Peso bet in lieu of a one U.S. Dollar, or 6.66 cents instead of one dollar based on the current rate of exchange of approximately 15 pesos for one dollar.

One of the disadvantages of gambling in Guadalajara is that there are high municipal, state and federal taxes and a "casino fee" applied to all winnings as of January 1, 2015. On April,24, 2015, for example, I deposited $100 pesos, won $25, but left with $121. When I cashed out, the casino had deducted 16% from my winnings!

As far as I am aware, the betting strategy that I am offering is original. As there are many books available on the subject of betting that I have not read, it would be entirely possible, but unlikely, that the following appears in another publication prior to this booklet's publishing date on Amazon.com.

This betting strategy design that is being offered can guarantee a win with every spin of the wheel with both

European and American Roulette when using one of the options that covers all 36 numbers, the single and the double zero house numbers!
